

Aims and scope

Acta Médica Grupo Angeles is an indexed medical journal published uninterruptedly for 22 years, developing high quality pre-reviewed medical articles in Spanish with summaries in English and aims to reach the entire medical, educational and research community around the world.

Our mission is to disseminate proven, quality medical knowledge that contributes to the advancement of medical care. Our focus is primarily clinical, although we publish original articles and opinions to achieve the best care for our patients.

With this objective, we seek to achieve excellence in manuscripts, based on the quality and originality of the work, we carry out a careful evaluation by expert peer reviewers and monitor compliance with strict ethical standards.
